Dear Parents and Carers of Children in Reception and Nursery

BBC Documentary

Before your children started at the school, the BBC Current Affairs Department chose Upland Primary School to be part of a three-part observational documentary series about schools in an area that offers selective education. Some of you will be aware of this due to having siblings in the school and information that was shared during parent meetings. The majority of the filming took place with selected year 6 pupils and within the year 6 classes. However, there could be times when the whole school have been captured such as assembly and playtimes.

Filming and the editing process has been much quicker than we were originally told and this week Mrs Marsh, Mr John Browning (Chair of Governors) and I will be watching the final edit to agree the content, so that the series can be aired very soon.

Until I watch the edit I am unable to confirm if Reception and Nursery have been featured but want to allow parents and carers the opportunity for children to be edited out of the programme if they do not want their child to be featured.

We will be watching the final edit this week due to the BBC wanting to schedule the programme very soon and commitments that Mrs Marsh and I already have in our diaries in March. Therefore, if you wish for your child to be edited out please inform the school by Wednesday 21st February 9.00 am.

Once again, I cannot confirm if Reception or Nursery has been featured until I watch the programme and apologise for the short turnaround with this.

Yours sincerely

Beth McKenzie
